Applications:

Industrial Man's Plastic 3D Printing Service

Industrial Man's Plastic 3D Printing Service uses 3D printing technology to produce custom 3D parts for industrial and consumer applications. Our 3D printing process utilizes the latest 3D manufacturing processes, such as fused deposition modeling (FDM) and selective laser sintering (SLS). Through this process we are able to customize your parts based on your design specifications. Our 3D printing process also offers superior quality and accuracy. We use only the highest quality materials, such as ABS, rubber, plastic, and nylon, to ensure that your parts meet your exact requirements. Our minimum order quantity is one piece, and our parts come in a natural color.
